“During the month of December, I began drawing portraits in graphite, having signed up for a 30-day challenge through sktchy.com. I have used every Saturday since then as “SatARTday” because I am a full-time high school English and art teacher. The challenge to realistically render my subject from a photo reference, using a variety of different pencils and graphite techniques, rewards me tenfold; concentrating on light, shadow, and shapes to render form, brings me joy.”

“Join me for Art Chat on February 18 where I will share my recent drawings and sketches.” Deborah Sacon

The Quabbin Art Association is offering free Zoom Art Chats for anyone who wants to attend.

Please email dcfontaine@yahoo.com for your Zoom invitation and join in on the February Art Chat.

This is an informal gathering of anyone interested in sharing their most recent art creations, activities, classes, dreams. We look forward to seeing you there!
